Indexed strategies earn interest related to the performance of an Index. Whether an indexed strategy earns interest or not and how much interest is earned is dependent on a number of factors: index performance, participation rate, cap, specified rate and segment term. The performance of the index cannot be predicted over any given period of time. Past history of the Index is no guarantee of future performance. There is not one particular interest crediting strategy that will deliver the most interest under all economic conditions. American National Insurance Company and its agents do not make any recommendations regarding the selection of indexed strategies. American National Insurance Company and its agents do not guarantee the performance of any indexed strategies. The Declared Rate Strategy earns interest at an interest rate we declare at the beginning of each segment term and is guaranteed during the segment term.
